After the meeting the usual lunch was served by the young people of the local Union and they again lived up to their reputation for hospitality. After the social hour, I had the pleasure of being kidnapped by Ex-President Harry R. Childs and carried off in his automobile to his new home in New Rochelle where I had a pleasant though brief visit with him and his house. Upon returning to the office I found plenty of matters awaiting my arrival and I have been busy ever since getting matters into final shape for the convention. I have spoken at the Norwell Union since I got back but have visited no others since then. Convention matters demand all of my time now as they must be in shape at once. As this is my last report of work done this year in these columns, allow me to express my hearty appreciation to all who have helped to make my work as pleasant and successful as it has been this year. It has been a year of many interesting and profitable experiences. It gives one many pleasant memories of friends made and work done to be carried on through the years. While I regret that it has not been possible for me to meet all of our members, I am glad to have had the privilege of meeting and coming into such close touch with so many in all parts of the country. This to...
